STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The offences against women and children, specially heinous and sexual offences have been increased many fold in the State. The perpetrators continue their inhuman acts on innocent and helpless women and children despite the penal provisions of the various criminal laws like the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860), the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012 (32 of 2012) and Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (2 of 1974). Recently, numerous inhuman acts have been taken place in the State where the women and children were subjected to rape, burning alive and murder. Such incidents are shocking to the social conscience.

2. In order to effectively control the heinous and sexual offences against women and children, the Government has appointed a Committee to make suggestions for stringent punishments and other related matters to amend the said Acts. The Committee has submitted its report to the Government. The Committee suggested amendments in the Indian Penal Code, the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012 and Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 to provide heavy fines and penalty upto death to the accused and proposed to enact new law for establishment of Exclusive Special Courts for speedy investigation and speedy trials of such offences against women and children.

3. The Government has considered the said report and decided to enact a special law for establishment of Exclusive Special Courts for speedy trial of such offences against women and children and to establish machinery to give effect the provisions of enhanced punishments under the penal laws.

4. The salient features of the proposed law are as follows :—

(i) to establish in each district, one or more Exclusive Special Courts for speedy trials;

(ii) to provide for appointment of Special Public Prosecutor;

(iii) to provide for constitution of special Police Teams at District or Commissionerate level for investigation of specified offences;

(iv) to establish institutions for providing services to victims including medical or psychiatric support and care, psychiatric counseling, facilitating legal and financial aid and rehabilitation of the victim;

(v) to maintain register in electronic form of persons convicted of specified offences against women and children.

5. The Bill is intended to achieve the above objectives.
